

PRIVATE DUTY NURSING PROVIDER DATA SNAPSHOT: EAST TEXAS

GROWING DEMAND AND WORKFORCE SHORTAGES

Angels of Care Pediatric Home Health currently faces a significant workforce shortage, leading to 24 declined referrals for PDN care in the East Texas area alone. This highlights the growing demand for services and the strain on their current workforce, with only 62.5% of referrals being accepted.

A rate increase would help Angels of Care attract and retain the qualified workforce needed to meet this growing demand and reduce the number of families they have to turn away.

ACCESS TO CARE IS AT RISK

Of the staffing hours these pediatric patients need, only 60.5% are fully staffed, leaving patients without about a third of the care they require. These children are waiting for necessary care, and Angels of Care is unable to provide timely services due to staffing shortages.

A rate increase would enable Angels of Care to hire additional staff, reducing wait times and allowing these patients to transition home more quickly, improving their quality of life and reducing hospital costs.

IMPACT ON PATIENT CARE AND COMMUNITY HEALTH

The current staffing limitations create a situation where patients, particularly those with complex medical needs, are left in hospitals longer than necessary. This not only affects their health and recovery but also puts a strain on local healthcare systems.

By increasing rates, Angels of Care can ensure patients are receiving the care they need in the most appropriate setting, preventing unnecessary hospital stays and improving overall patient outcomes.

SUSTAINABILITY OF SERVICES

The increasing number of patients needing care combined with the limited workforce is unsustainable without adequate funding. As a result, Angels of Care is unable to continue accepting all referrals, which means many patients in critical need of care are not getting the help they require.

A rate increase would help sustain and expand Angels of Care's services, allowing them to care for more patients, reduce waitlists, and meet the growing demand for PDN care.

SUSTAINABILITY OF SERVICES

Competitive compensation is crucial to attract and retain skilled healthcare workers, especially in an environment where demand for home-based care is rising. A rate increase would help address staffing shortages by ensuring workers are compensated fairly, thus improving retention and job satisfaction.
